Meet the Speakers

Speaker Bios

Isaac Adi-- My name is Isaac Adi and I'm running for the Lakota School Board. I am a very proud US citizen. I came to America from Nigeria over 18 years ago to provide my family with the opportunities in America that did not exist in my country.

The America I came to was one that gave everyone an equal chance to succeed. If you take advantage of the opportunities and work hard you will fulfill your dream. My family has taken advantage of the opportunities America offers by getting a strong education and working hard. America is a country that rewards those who are prepared, and are willing to work every day to achieve their own American dream. In America, we are all given the chance to achieve our dream. While I love my country of birth, I love the country I chose so many years ago, America. My family and I are examples of what can happen if you get a good education and work hard every day to achieve your American dream.

I am a Business Administration graduate of Ahmadu Bello University in Zaria, Nigeria and I received a Master's in Science from Colorado Technical University in Colorado Springs, CO. I am a managing partner of Ohio based KGN Petroleum and a member of the Ohio Oil & Gas Association. <https://www.isaacadi.com/on-the-issues>

Sarah Fowler Arthur— along with Rep. Diane Grendell are co-authors of HB327, the Bill to end Critical Race Theory in Ohio. State Representative Sarah Fowler Arthur is currently serving her first term in the Ohio House of Representatives. She represents the 99th House District, which includes portions of Ashtabula and Geauga Counties.

Prior to being elected to the House, Fowler Arthur has served on the Ohio State Board of Education since 2013. Sarah has supported parental direction of children's education and local control of Ohio's public schools throughout her tenure. She is the first homeschool graduate in the nation to be elected to a State Board of Education.

Sarah has served on more than a dozen State Board of Education committees and several workgroups, which has given her a wide range of education policy experience. She was the State Board's 2015 appointee to the National Association of State Boards of Education workgroup on Governmental Affairs that focused on federal education law and policy. Sarah has also served as vice-chairman for three committees (2014-2018) and was the chairman of the Teaching, Leading, and Learning Committee from 2019-2020.

A small business owner, Sarah started her first business when she was just eleven years old, operating "Sarah's Eggs" for thirteen years. <https://www.ohiohouse.gov/members/sarah-fowler-arthur>

Haddon Lockyer-- Haddon Lockyer is a 16 year old Christian, conservative, and founder/CEO of the news organization "The Informed Youth of America." (www.theinformedyouth.weebly.com). He is a sophomore at Frontier High School, where he loves to have discussions about current events with his classmates. He has a very patriotic family, consisting of his mother, Amanda, his father, Todd, and his siblings, Hudson and Abby.

Through his speaking engagements, Haddon hopes to point out that America's upcoming generation can turn the nation back towards the things of God and truth... or they can push it farther away. He hopes that adults will see how important it is to teach students to think for themselves, and that the lessons they teach at home and at school can change the face of America."

Josh Mandel—is a candidate for U.S. Senate. Josh Mandel, 43, recently completed two terms as Treasurer of the State of Ohio, overseeing the state's $22B+ investment portfolio and $232B+ pension custody portfolio. Josh was elected in 2010 and re-elected in 2014, winning both elections by double-digit margins.

In 2014 Josh introduced OhioCheckbook.com, a first-of-its-kind transparency website posting online over $690 billion of state spending. As a result of his innovation in this area, Josh launched Ohio from 46th to the #1 ranking in America for government transparency.

In 2018 Josh launched OhioCrypto.com, making Ohio the first state in the nation to enable taxpayers to pay taxes with cryptocurrency. This initiative was part of his broader drive to motivate policymakers and business leaders to embrace blockchain technology.

When Josh took office, Ohio's finances were ranked 43rd in the nation and the state faced an $8 billion budget hole. By the end of his first term, Ohio's financial ranking had improved to 7th in the nation and the state had more than a $1 billion surplus.

Along the way, Josh was recognized with the Association of Government Accountants award for "Excellence in Financial Management", the American Society for Public Administration's award for "Integrity and Ethical Conduct in Public Service".

Josh's previous elected experience included two terms in the Ohio House of Representatives, where he was elected after knocking on 19,679 doors and wearing out three pairs of shoes discussing the needs and concerns of his constituents. During his time in the state legislature, Josh served as the Ranking Member of the Financial Institutions, Real Estate, and Securities Committee. Inspired by a strong sense of duty, Josh enlisted in the Marine Corps Reserves in 2000, where he graduated first in his class from Marine Corps Boot Camp and first in his class from Marine Corps Intelligence School. Josh, 43, recently completed two terms as Treasurer of the State of Ohio, overseeing the state's $22B+ investment portfolio and $232B+ pension custody portfolio. Josh was elected in 2010 and re-elected in 2014, winning both elections by double-digit margins. www.joshmandel.com

Mark Pukita--Mark did not marry into money. He did not find wealth in venture capital schemes. He built jobs and propelled the success of countless small, mid-sized, and large businesses. He came from humble, lower working-class roots but, unlike others in the Senate race, he never walked away from his working-class values.

Mark grew up on the east coast and moved to Ohio in 1976. He has a degree with honors from The Ohio State University. Mark lives in Dublin, is a proud grandparent to two grandsons, and wants Ohio families to be proud to raise their children and grandchildren here. Mark is a wildly successful entrepreneur who embodies hard work done right. In 1996, he started a company, Fast Switch, with only $1,000. That small investment created thousands of good paying jobs. Over two decades later he sold most of the business to his executive team, the very ones who, with Mark, built Fast Switch's success. His company was recognized 9 times by Columbus Business First as a "Fast 50" company.

Mark wants to be proud of Ohio, but is not. Ohio is the heart of the country. With the 7th largest population in the nation, Ohioans deserve a force to be reckoned with in Washington. A Senator who is not afraid to swing a bat backed by over 11-million citizens. For far too long our elected officials have been weak and irrelevant. Refusing to fight for Ohio's values has put us all at risk. Mark will fight so we can all be "Ohio Proud"
